I learn that AI can do like what human can do and an important key I noticed is that we could visualize what AI generate, which is far from what I expected because my first impression about AI was a mess.